BANKING CRISIS.

The extraordinary increase of Banks in this country within the last year or so calls for remark. Many are of opinion that the sudden growth of these institutions injured the other banks and is one of the causes of the present crisis, but if the truth be told, these new banks instead of prejudicing the older banks, have done them a world of good, inasmuch as most of the new concerns, in order to get into business, took over stocks and shares in "caucion" which the old private banks have escaped, and thus we have some of these junior banks with their safes filled up with every description of unsaleable stock, whilst the old private banks have only in their, "carteras" trade pagares etc.

We all see, and we admit now, that last year trade and credit were altogether too expanded; sooner or later a shrinkage had to come; not even the Bank of England could stand the march of this market for another year. That the free-banking law had something to do with the starting of so many new banks no one will deny. Nevertheless, in the list of city banks hereunder, but a very few have come in under that law, and those that did, were urged more from the desire to escape taxation than anything else.

It is probable that in the present year fully one-half of these new banks will have to liquidate, as the whole business of the market is insufficient to keep them all going. The new banks started on foreign capital are a direct gain to the country, but those local concerns started without a farthing cash capital and with shares nominally fully paid up and pledged for the full par value on their face, must of necessity close their doors, as the unfortunate shareholders will be unable to pay even the interest charged on such imaginary "cauciones".

The following list of private Banks in this city may interest many of our readers both here and in Europe. We omit from this list the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres, the National Bank, and the two Government Mortgage Banks; but we apprehend that the list we give is enough and will be a surprise to many, particularly to the elder portion of our readers who remember when there were but two banks in the whole market—the Provincial and the Maua Bank.

The following is the list:—
London and River Plate Bank.
Banco de Italia y Rio de la Plata.
Carabassa Bank.
The English Bank of the River Plate.
Banco de Comercio.
English Bank of Rio Janeiro.
Banco Sud Americano.
Anglo-Argentine Bank.
The French Bank.
Banco Frances de Montevideo.
Banco Union Nacional.
The German Bank.
River Plate Loan and Trust Co.
New Zealand do.
Banco General.
Banco Industrial y Constructor.
Banco Inmobilario.
Banco Hipotecario de la Capital.
Banco Municipal de Prestamos.
Banco de la Bolsa.
Banco Agricola y Comercial.
Banco de Roma.
Nuevo Banco Italiano.
Banco de Ahorros y Pequenos Prestamos
Banco de Buenos Aires.
Caja de Descuentos.
Banco de Cobranzas y Anticipos.
Banco Colonizador Nacional.
Banco Comercial, La Plata
Banco Comercial, Buenos Aires.
Banco de Credito Real
Banco Constructor de la Plata.
Banco de Locaciones.
Banco Mercantil de la Plata.
Banco Nacional Inmobilario.
Banco Popular Argentino.
Banco Popular de Credito.
Banco Credito Nacional.
Banco Union Nacional.
Banco Comercial Argentino.
Banco Sociedad General Pobladora.
Banco Comisionista Trasatlantico.
Banco General de Credito.
The Spanish Bank.
Banco de Cauciones.
Banco de Credito Minorista.
Nuevo Banco Argentino del Ejercito y Armada.

We think we are safe in saying that the collective capital of all these banks will certainly amount to over two hundred millions, since there are many banks in the above list new concerns, with fully paid up capitals of from eight to ten millions m/n. That is to say, the shares are all marked fully paid, but in reality little or nothing has been paid on them, being all pledged or held in "caucion". This list is of itself an index of the crisis, and we must weed the list well before we can show much improvement.

THE ARGENTINE TURF.

In view of the near advent of a fresh racing season, it may not be amiss to give a general glance at the results of 1889 and the prospects of 1890. At the commencement of last year, considerable interest was evinced in the prospective performances of the high class English horses that were then arriving, and also in the question of the success or non-success of English trainers and jockeys. With reference to the performances of the equine immigrants, there was little disappointment, for Gloriation, Annamite, Camors and Bismarck (omitting the smaller fry) at times put in most brilliant work; the youngster proved himself the possessor of both speed and stamina, and his gallant struggle in the "Gran Nacional" when beaten only by Bolivar, to whom he was conceding 6 months' difference in age, was, if anything, even more meritorious than his successful efforts. Gloriation, after showing a glimpse of his real form, succumbed to the chances of training and did not put in an appearance for his later and more important engagements. Annamite ran consistently, losing the greatest weight-for-age race of the year entirely through the ridiculous over-confident riding of his jockey; he, too, however, was hors de combat at the end of the year, attributable to the amount of hard work knocked into him through a long and arduous season. Bismarck displayed a truly versatile capacity, winning indiscriminately over 1000 metres and 3800 metres, and was undoubtedly, on the day he put in the last named win, the best horse in the country: this horse improved greatly in appearance after his arrival, and, we believe, at the end of 1889 was at least a stone better than he had ever been in England. It must be noted that these four cracks were all trained by natives, and it is abundantly clear that, with good material to work upon, the Argentine trainer can hold his own.

However flattering the performances of British horses may have been to English vanity, the same can hardly be said of British trainers and jockeys, during the early part of the season at any rate. The circumstances were peculiar and their comparative failure to achieve success was due to causes entirely beyond their control, and reflected no discredit whatever upon them: we are all too prone to judge solely by results without taking into consideration the particular features of each case. Several horses, shortly after leaving the hands of English trainers, won races, but we venture to think, contrary to the expressed sentiments of many racing men, that the merit of these victories belonged as much, if not more, to their old than to their new trainers. Horses are not acclimatised in a day, and in one stable it was notorious that the chances of several fair animals were considerably discounted by the lack of common patience on the part of their eager owners.

Later in the year, we had to submit to a British invasion on a small scale which was not so successful as the pluck and enterprise of Mr. Haughton deserved; nevertheless, he retired with the honours of war, and, had he been able to remain longer in this country, he, with the assistance of his large and able staff, would, no doubt, have won plenty of races; unfortunately, however, just as his team was getting into form, the racing season terminated and he resolved to return home. We would gladly welcome another such expedition, for these friendly international trials of strength are strong factors in the promotion of the best interests of sport.

No review of the doings of the year would be complete without mentioning the tragic deaths of Indecis and Acme—the former being the actual King of the Argentine Turf, whilst the latter threatened a serious rivalry; these events, however, are of such recent occurrence, and the details must be so fresh in the memories of all, that this bare allusion to them must suffice.

The prospects of the coming year are fairly bright, although the recently imposed import duty of 25 per cent on blood stock is calculated to check the influx of first-class horses; amongst recent arrivals that have not yet made their debut in South America, we may instance Humewood, Amazon, Peeler and Rada, of the well-known home performers, of which the first couple will probably distinguish themselves.

We are pleased to note that two young Englishmen have started as public trainers—one of them, Gerald O'Neill, hails from one of the largest establishments in Newmarket, whence he brings excellent recommendations, while the second, E. Fraser, from a long experience acquired in Australia and India, should be especially successful here; he trains, among others, for Mr. William Kemmis, and the fact that he is honored with the confidence of this first-rate judge of horseflesh is a great feather in his cap and should bring him further patronage. We trust that these two trainers, together with Brett, Radcliffe and Taylor (all competent men) will maintain the reputation of England as being "facile princeps" in this difficult art. We believe that they have now better chances of success than any English trainer previously, as many fair animals are under their charge and they are not unreasonably handicapped by the caprices and eagerness of inexperienced owners.

We cannot close these brief remarks without expressing our deep regret that certain of the most influential of English sporting journals have within the last few months chosen to insert various communications on racing in this Republic, which, we have no hesitation in saying, were forwarded by thoroughly irresponsible persons who, with little or no knowledge of the subject, have, with the view of penning sensational correspondence or with some even less laudable intention, invested the Argentine Turf with the blackest attributes of brutality and chicanery. Racing is a young institution here and, as we have from time to time pointed out in our columns, the system adopted here has many defects which time will promptly cure, but the picture painted for the edification of our sporting friends at home, is absolutely too absurd in its exaggerated repulsiveness and carries the imprimatur of a lie on its very face.

Race-goers here need not to be assured of this—they have the evidence of their own senses to refute the allegations to which we refer; but the danger lies in the fact that, by dint of mere iteration, these misstatements may be credited at home, and that the entente cordiale between England and Argentina in the matter of horse flesh may be rudely broken, for we cannot expect Argentines to submit quietly to these libellous attacks on their system of racing, which has progressed towards success, if it has not already thoroughly attained it, more quickly and with greater strides than in any other country or in any other epoch. The English Turf itself, perfect as its admirers deem it to be, was a creature of slow growth indeed compared with the Argentine, and when it had seen more decades than racing here has years, suffered from far more abuses and opened its portals to far more trickery and deceit.

THE WASHINGTON DISASTER.

A TERRIBLE STORY.

London, Feb. 7.

Details are to hand of yesterday's fire at Washington, by which the wife and daughter of Mr. Tracy, United States Naval Secretary, lost their lives. As was then stated, the house occupied by Mr. Tracy caught fire while the family were asleep. It was a three-storied brick dwelling which had recently been thoroughly repaired. Persons passing about 7 o'clock in the morning saw smoke issuing from the front windows, and at once raised an alarm of fire, to which the fire and police departments responded promptly. But by the time help arrived the premises were almost concealed by dense smoke, which was thickened by the heavy fog just settling on the neighbourhood not yet awakened. Within the house not a sound was heard except the crackling of the flames, as in great tongues they leaped out of the windows on the top floor. Soon a door opened, and two male servants were seen to emerge and run for their lives, and some other figures robed in white then appeared at the windows

THE DEATH ROLL.

Secretary and Mrs. Tracy occupied a back room on the second story. Mrs. Tracy, the Daily News correspondent says, was first awakened by suffocating smoke, the Secretary being at the time unconscious, and she, with heroic devotion, attempted to drag the inanimate body of her husband to the window. In this she partly succeeded, though half dazed and blinded by smoke. She opened the window, and just as the firemen were putting up a ladder to rescue her, she fell to the pavement, and was picked up with severe internal injuries and a broken leg. She was taken to a neighbouring house, and without recovering consciousness, died within an hour. A ladder, which might have saved her life, was soon placed under the window, and strong hands lifted the body of the Secretary through it and carried him to the pavement. The Secretary was at first thought to be dead, but it was discovered that a small spark of life remained, and he was removed to a neighbouring house. Mr. Tracy's unmarried daughter occupied the third storey front-room and met with a terrible fate. She could be seen at the window in the light that flickered in between the blinding smoke and flames, clad in white, her hands in an attitude of prayer, and her face uplifted. The flames gradually hemmed her in, and she finally perished. A French maid met a similar fate in an adjoining room, where her charred and blackened remains were found. Mrs. Wilmerding, the Secretary's married daughter, and her daughter Alice occupied a front room on the same floor with the Secretary and Mrs. Tracy. Both jumped from the window to the grass terrace, and while the shock to both was severe, neither received, so far as is apparent, serious injury. Mrs. Wilmerding had her right arm badly sprained, and she is lying in a hysterical and half-dazed condition but is rapidly improving under treatment.

A PATHETIC INCIDENT

The most pathetic incident of the fire was the death of Mrs. Tracy through her heroic efforts to save her husband. The fireman who first mounted the stairs found the Secretary lying unconscious on the floor near the open window, and Mrs. Tracy exerting all her strength in an attempt to lift him up so that he could get fresh air. The fireman himself was nearly suffocated, but undertook to relieve her. Mr. Tracy, however, who is a a large, heavy man, proved almost too great a load for him. By dragging his burden into the adjoining room, where the air was clearer, he contrived to procure assistance from outside and got the Secretary out alive. Then he went back to fetch Mrs. Tracy, who had not followed him, but she had gone. She had fallen from the window while clinging to the blinds in the effort to get air. When the body was examined, it was found that she had died from the bursting of a blood vessel, believed to be the result of over exertion in trying to rescue her husband. Although the Secretary is still living and conscious, grave fears are entertained as to his recovery. He has been suffering from influenza and threatened with pneumonia, and is in such a weakened condition that the severe experience may easily prove too much for him, especially when followed by the shock of the discovery of his double bereavement.

EXPERIENCE OF A BYSTANDER.

A gentleman who saw the fire said, "Never in my life did I see such a sight. The whole building seemed a seething mass of flames, bursting from every point. Scream followed scream, each one more blood-curdling than the other, from the interior of the building. Only a few people were passing at the time, and they seemed bewildered." The origin of the fire is unknown. The Senate adjourned immediately the news of the calamity was formally announced. The President has abandoned his proposed visit to New York to attend the centenary celebration of the organisation of the United States Supreme Court because of this affliction to one Secretary and the death of the daughter of another—namely, Mr Blaine—on Sunday. The entire social and official life of Washington is deeply affected by this terrible disaster.

A TERRIBLE AWAKENING.

When Mr Tracy recovered consciousness his first words were to inquire about his wife. When told that she was injured, he cried piteously, "Save her! Save her!" and then relapsed into a state of insensibility, which lasted a short time only. On reviving again he called out to his physicians to leave him and save his wife. He then inquired for his daughters, and said that they must be saved Finally, as he was becoming more and more nervous with suspense, the physicians decided that he must be told the truth, or his own life might be endangered. The President was with him at the time, and he broke the sad news to him. The Secretary received the blow with great fortitude, and soon fell into a troubled sleep. The funeral of Mrs. Tracy and her daughter will take place from the President's house, whither the bodies have been taken.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

According to the account sent by Reuter's agency, Mrs. Tracy did not fall from the window, but was found in the house. She was conscious, and lingered for an hour apparently suffering but slightly. The medical examination showed that Miss Tracy was suffocated before she was burned. Mr. Tracy is now slowly but steadily improving. He will be taken to the White House to-day, the doctors not considering it advisable that he should be moved sooner. The servant who was burned was a French maid named Josephine Morrell. The cook was also somewhat injured by the flames, her skin being scorched and blackened, though she was not seriously hurt. President Harrison has countermanded the State dinner to be given in honour of the Centenary of the Organization of the United States Supreme Court next Thursday.

DR. LAHITTE'S BLOOD-STOCK AUCTION.

At a moment of such deep financial dejection, such widespread commercial ruin, such national impecuniosity, so successful an auction as that effected by Bullrich at Canuelas on Friday calls for more than a mere passing notice. The night was stormy, the morning cloudy, the day unsettled ("half sunshine, half tears, like the girl I love best") and yet without puffing or praising of any kind, except from the locomotive just before starting, the auctioneer's special train was filled with all the leading estancieros and many of our chief city men. Something more serious than a "carne con cuero" breakfast to take them so far and on such a boisterous morn, when the very elements of nature seemed out of joint, in sympathy with Bolsa affairs. Like a thunderstorm on a battle field, heaven's artillery joining in the roar of battle and the crash of worlds.

Nor could they well expect to secure bargains, for each one knew the extent of his neighbor's pocket almost if not quite as well as the form of his friend's features or the cut of his beard.

Rushing past Barracas, Lanus and Banfield at "wild Irishman" speed the first stop was made at Montes Grandes to pick up Sr. Moyano. Thence to Temperly was the work of ten minutes: here the rain came down and we must all have been heavily drenched but for the presence of Mr. Barrows, the ever active submanager of the Great Southern railway, who kindly dispensed with the usual changing of carriages, a serious inconvenience in the best of weather, but which under the present circumstances must certainly have cost many of us a heavy fit of sickness. All were loud in their praises, and if good wishes go for anything in this ungrateful world, we can assure the directors in London, the clerks in Plaza Constitucion, aye and the very "peones" on the extension works that their collective and individual wellbeing is secured for them during all time and spite of all epidemics or crisis. More than this it would not be fair to say because it might border on exaggeration.

At 11 a.m. the estancia house is reached and operations at once begun, Don Adolfo proving himself quite as able a hand at wielding the knife and fork as flourishing the ubiquitous hammer. The sun burst ing out from behind a heavy bank of clouds lit up the breakfast table with more than electric brilliancy. The superabundance of excellent wines combined with an extraordinary lack of water had a most telling effect on the bidding, which, spite of mud and slush interminable, was throughout active and well sustained. Mr. Bullrich, with veteran veterinerary experience, began with the blood stock, because there is nothing so catching to the eye, nor so appealing to the heart of the average camp man, be his condition high or low.

"Holga," pure Arab mare; buyer Ado. Argerich, $950 m/l.

"Portena," pure Arab mare; buyer Antonio Muñoz, $1400 m/l.

"Velocidad," mestiza Arab mare; buyer Marcellini, $250 m/l.

The other chief buyers were Gen. Roca, Basavilbasso, Salas, Zamudio, Marenco, Martinez, Bones, Tiglione, Olivares, Molinare, Elinares, Richard Newton and brother, Ino. Moore of Lobos, R. Quirk, P. Gartland, A. Souze, McClymont, Meyer, Clarez, etc., etc. The strangest incident of the day occurred with Mr. John Moore, who, on getting down from his carriage to examine the fine stock, found a mare with his mark. He had sold her last year for her grease, but escaping from the saladero, the animal was found by Mr. Lahitte, who groomed and cared her for the present sale. It was with difficulty I could tear myself thus abruptly from so interesting a scene; for here we have not alone the cure for all our present financial troubles, but also the great prolific parent of our wealth in the past. Here our countrymen made their first start sheep farming close on half a century ago, and from this fertile, grassy cradle has sprung up an industry second to none of the great imperial enterprises of the many nations of the world. All honor to the men who, forsaking the delights of town, took to sheep caring in face of savage Indians and their scarcely less formidable enemy, the wild "gaucho," who from the back of his favorite "pingo" mocked the civilizing efforts of his more enlightened neighbor. All honor to the man who contributes to the success of this splendid national industry, whether he be a poor "puestero" minding the "silly sheep", or Dn. Adolph Bullrich wielding his hammer, steeped in that soul-inspiring liquid, champagne.

Railway Items.

Governor Paz has selected as a most appropriate day for the opening of the Trenquelauquen Extensions St. Patrick's Day, in the morning, and on the following day the bids for the Western Railway are to be opened. The choice could not be happier, and the inhabitants of Pehuajo and Trenquelauquen are preparing to fete St. Patrick's Day with an enthusiasm that threatens to leave Hibernian tradition in the shade. The Trenquelauquen Extension, which is as far as Pehuajo, runs 180 kilometres through some of the finest lands in the province. As many of our readers own lands in the neighborhood of Trenquelauquen, a few particulars will be found of interest. Trenquelauquen is 280 miles W.S.W. of Buenos Ayres, and is rather a wooded country. The principal landowners are: — Alonso, Anchorena, Baring, Brown, Buch, Bueno, Cambaceres, Carril, Cascallar, Drysdale, Durañona, Girondo, Ham, Iñiguez, Irigoyen, Jacobs, Jaureguy, Lacoste, Legos, McClymont, Newton, Pereda, Pico, Ricketts, Rocha, Sanchez, Scherrer, Ugarte, Villa and Unzue. One of the first settlers was the late Mr. William McClymont who was killed, with his foreman Purvis, in May 1883. The rails now pass over the spot where he perished. On the completion of the line, the journey from Buenos Ayres will be done in 12 hours.

The course of the Santa Fe and Cordoba Great Southern Railway is by no means smooth at present, and we fear there is a legal tender tussle in prospect. Messrs. J. A. Garcia, Camilo Aldao, and L. A. Sauze, who hold a concession for moles and deposits in Villa Constitucion, have complained to the Home Minister that they are put to serious inconvenience owing to the opposition of the Railway Company. The Railway Company, it appears, had applied for the same privileges embodied in the concession already granted to Messrs. Garcia, Aldao and Sauze, and expropriated land on an extensive scale. It is this expropriation that has brought about the quarrel. The Minister is looking up the question and will probably give his opinion next week. It is hard to say which party is in the right.

The question between Inspector Randle and the Rosario Railway, to which we alluded in a recent issue, has been taken up by Dr Araoz. It appears the question is not so much with the railway as with the police authorities, who refused to recognise Mr Randle in his official character.

An accident of a serious nature occurred yesterday at dawn on the Western Railway, near the old Almagro Station. An engine overtook and ran into a goods' train, and the tender and several wagons were destroyed. The driver, it appears, saw the danger, but it was too late and he could not stop the engine. The debris of the wagons and tender were not removed before mid-day, and large crowds assembled to contemplate the wreck Two men, in the last wagon, were severely injured.

Dr. Araoz yesterday sent a letter to the Home Minister advising H. E. to authorize the Post-Master General to buy 10 or 12 special wagons for the mail-bags forwarded to the interior. The idea is a very good one and we hope the Minister will grant the requisite authority.

Dr. Araoz has advised the Government not to pay the Central Northern Railway guarantee ($400,000 gold), unless the bill he accompanied with a certificate of the deposit specified by decree of February 29 1888.

Government yesterday decided that the Pacific Railway shall make, within the year, the necessary repairs pointed out by the Engineers' Department.

It was also decided yesterday to authorize the Buenos Ayres and Rosario Railway to build two more stations in the Sunchales Extension, between kils. 403 and 450.

It was also decided to authorize the East Argentine to run the 50 new wagons, on condition that proper brakes be provided, and the Pacific Railway to put in service 4 first-class and 4 second-class sleeping saloons.

The Central Northern, by decree of yesterday, is authorized to build a siding at kil. 86 (Jujuy Extension) to Messrs. Paz and Gallo's establishment.

We have received the following:—

Buenos Aires, March 7th.

Dear Sir,

While entirely concurring in what you say in your issue of to-day with regard to the precautions taken on the Great Southern Railway, permit me to say a word respecting the accident which is reported in the telegraphic column of the STANDARD of 6th inst. The accident appears to have occurred through the failure of the continuous brake when the train was entering Carlisle station. This station, although a through one, is booked in the working time tables of the several companies who use it as a terminal station, and the regulations set down for drivers when approaching stations of the kind are most strict, the rule being that drivers must approach all of them at such a speed as to be able to bring their trains to a stop with the aid of the hand or steam brake on the engine only, irrespective of the continuous air brake. Any driver found disregarding this rule is invariably severely punished.

I do not think there is any precaution which it is possible to take omitted in connection with the working of English Railways, and the service and management of all the lines, more especially the three great lines running North of London, is admitted to be the most admirable in the world.

The Scotch as well as all other expresses are very carefully examined by men trained for the purpose in the carriage shops of the different companies at each station they stop at "en route."

Yours obediently,

N

The Government has issued the following decree in reference to Messrs Sauford and Clark's petition, of which we published the substance a few days ago.

"A petition having been received from Messrs Clark and Sanford, wherein they ask for the suspension of the Government resolution of February 20th, which set aside that of February 6th, 1888, and ordered the immediate occupation of the Andine Railway by the Board of National Railways, and wherein they also ask for a conference in order to express their views orally and to arrive at an equitable arrangement, and Considering:—

1. That shortly before the expiration of the two months within which the purchase money had to be paid according to the law of 23rd November, 1889, the purchasers having been warned that they must be ready to fulfil that obligation, Mr. Sanford's representative called at the Ministry and stated that in the opinion of the English lawyers the right of the Government was not sufficiently proved, a surprising allegation in reference to a line constructed by the National and in view of the laws accepted by the purchasers.

2. That in subsequent conferences, when the time for completion had expired and the Government had exhausted all conciliatory measures, the purchasers proposed to retain out of the purchase money the amount of the charge on the line, but this, besides being illegal and derogatory to the national credit, would have thrown upon the Nation the obligation of paying the interest on the charge to the holders of the loan, and the guarantee of the purchase money of $7,395,000 gold.

3. That the purchasers also proposed to retain about $700,000 out of the purchase money for the repairs of the Andine Railway, the result being that the total deduction from the purchase money of 7,395,000 dols. would be 6,00,000 dols. for the charge and 700,000 dols. for repairs.

4. As regards the rent, the purchasers themselves confess that they have not paid it since October, although they allege, as an excuse, that it has been expended in repairs which ought to be paid by the owners and not by the tenants of the line; this is another unjustifiable act on their part, because such expenses have not been authorised by the Government and they have no power to apply the rent to the cost of work without permission from the Government.

5. That from the 23rd of January the day fixed by the law for the payment of the purchase money, to the 20th February the Government postponed the resolution which has caused the Andine Railway to return to the Nation, in the hope that Messrs. Sanford and Clark would remove the difficulties which prevented them from fulfilling their engagements with the Government.

6. That on February 19th they asked for the last time, a delay of 24 hours for that purpose, but that time expired without their having intimated that they were ready to fulfil their engagement.

7. That the suspension of the Government guarantee to the Eastern Railway, decreed by the Government in consequence of the abuses committed by the Company and of its neglect to place itself in the proper condition for serving the public interests, has nothing to do with the obligations which the law of 23rd November imposed on Messrs. Sanford and Clark, nor can the Public Powers in taking their resolutions be in subjection to foreign interests.

8. That moreover, in the present case, the affair is not one of transferring the railway to a new company which has to be founded, but to the Central Argentine Railway Company, whose credit and importance are well-known.

9. That from all the antecedents of this affair, it appears that Messrs. Sanford and Clark have either never, prior or subsequently to the law of November, had the funds necessary for the purchase of the Andine Railway, or, if they have had such funds, they have not fulfilled the dispositions of the law, and they have thus, in either case, caused serious damage which the Government will make effective. It is resolved:

1. To maintain the resolution of the 20th of February last which restores the Andine Railway to the Nation.

2. To refuse the conference solicited, because it is useless, having regard to the antecedents of this affair and to what is sustained in the document in which such conference is asked.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The gold-premium rocket gave another bang in the upper air yesterday that made everybody quake. Rumours of all sorts, shapes and sizes were flying about, flapping in one's face at every street corner, and nobody knew what to think. "It can't last much longer now" was, however, the general verdict. The article in the Diario "The Rats of the Ship" was unanimously pronounced splendid, and a faithful picture of the situation.

The new Cabinet in Montevideo was announced yesterday as follows:—

Finance, Dr Carlos Peña
Government, Engineer Capurro
Foreign, Blas Vidal
Worship, Berrindegue
War, Gallarda

The other news from over the water was of some very big business proposed to the new Government.

Something is wrong in Rio, evidently, and Bocayuva may be glad to return to the Plate when he gets there. Exchange on London has gone to the dogs, 22½; and serious events are expected next week. The rocking of the cradle of the baby republic is no old woman's job. The worst of it is that our Brazilian brothers do not at all consider the Misiones Question settled. Then, what in the name of Julius Cæsar are we to get for all our money spent in feeding, feting and flattering Bocayuva till he got clean sick of it and went home?

There was a smash between an engine and a goods train at Almagro station yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. Guard battered and two wagons smashed.

A sad case was reported yesterday. An old French couple, each aged 60, lived in Calle San Martin. After dinner on Friday the wife became ill and died during the day. On hearing of his loss the old man fell dead from the shock, and they were buried side by side yesterday morning.

There is a grand match on the card at the Fronton Nacional to-day; Portal and Irun against Elicegui and the Manco. This ought to be a game worth seeing.

Our special German correspondent in Montevideo writes that a new Italian Opera company has been formed in that city under the management of Signor Antoni; the leader of the orchestra is the reputed Sr. Bernardi. The prima-donna of the company is the gifted and beautiful Miss Maria Tescher, who has just returned from an inland tour where she reaped laurels wherever she appeared. The company will play at the Politeama and every box and seat in the house has been already engaged for the "temporada", as the fair prima-donna is a great favorite in Montevidean society. In the year 1887 Miss Tescher made her debut in the Mount as prima-donna of the Ferrari Opera company.

Baron Rotenhan, German Minister, is at present in Montevideo. Consul Mikulicz is also cross the water. German friends are unanimous in their praise of the German club "Frohsinn" in Montevideo Our special correspondent states that the club is the best in South America, a fact which need excite no wonder as the club is under the chairmanship of Dr. Brendell, the great Montevidean Physician. Visitors from Buenos Aires are received with open arms and there would be no better proof that they relish the genial reception than that they remain in the club precincts till all hours in the morning.

All Montevideo is preparing for the great musical event announced to come off next week. A great professional and amateur concert will take place in the fine residence of Dr. Brendell, and the event will be directed by Madame Brendell, who has the reputation of being one of the most distinguished pianistes on this continent. Our correspondent winds up with the philosophical observation that people in Montevideo enjoy themselves, because they are not cursed with forced currency and its melancholy influences.

We note that Dr. J. M. Henriquez, North American dentist, has removed his "drawing" room to 685 Calle Corrientes

We received the following yesterday:—

Dear STANDARD,

For the sake of an Hibernian Patron the back, you have spoilt a good old story true as gospel and ancient as the hills. Foote, the actor, stopped one night at a wayside inn, and being frightfully overcharged for his scant accommodation, angrily asked the landlord "what's your name, Sir?" "Partridge," replied Boniface. "Partridge! cood, it ought to have been Woodcock from the length of your bill." Tableau.

What the President of the Republic is reported by Mr. Seeber to think of the crisis and the proper remedies therefor will not help the gold premium down the hill very much. H. E. is "still harping on my daughter"—the Bolsa, which may prepare for another raid "a la Varela."

We acknowledge with thanks a gilt-edged invitation from Signor G. B. Guidici to attend the opening of his new jewel making establishment in Calle Velez Sarsfield to day. We wish him a "brilliant" success: but brave indeed must be the man who dares to rush into the jewellery trade in the present state of affairs. Already there is for sale a plethora of jewels that the fair wearers fondly thought would become heir-looms.

The River Plate Times publishes the following funny paragraph:—"Some of the comic papers desirous of being more than usually funny, keep on announcing the approach of Regattas to be given sometimes at the Pocitos and sometimes in the Bay, under the auspices of the Rowing Clubs, and also sundry athletic meetings at the Cricket Field in which 'Señoritas distinguidas', will take part; all of which however are simply inventions of the writers. Though we fail to see the joke, we have no doubt there is one hidden away somewhere, and we trust somebody may enjoy a hearty laugh when he happens to discover it.

We all but swooned yesterday at the very latest remedy proposed to cure the crisis by our esteemed colleague the Southern Cross. 'Stop payment in gold on the Nations Bonds abroad!! Oh! colleague, colleague, this is Repudiation, and would send the gold premium to 1000.

We feel much pleasure in saluting our Montevidean colleague, the Express, which has just entered on its third year. We wish it a long continuance of prosperity.

At the request of Messrs. Wilson and Co., agents of the Pacific line of steamers, we gladly correct our statement of a few days ago (taken from a Montevidean paper) to the effect that the steamer Oratava had landed some "casos sospechos" on Flores Island. It was not so; she called there in obedience to some new sanitary regulations, and had no sickness whatever on board; quite the contrary, all her passengers being in the most robust of health.

Retrenchment rules the roast in old Rosary now. Dozens of shops close their doors every day after dark, in order to save the gas bill.

Smith (a physician)—"I tell you, doctors are a necessity, but lawyers are not." Briefs—"They are not? How do you make that out?" "Because necessity knows no law."

Our unwelcome guest, influenza, seems to enjoy the cooler weather, and two funerals were put to his credit, or discredit, yesterday—two ladies, aged 55 and 64 respectively.

One man killed by lightning and two drowned was the result of Thursday night's storm in Rosario. A local paper declares the hailstones were "like stale iced creams."

Sr. Juan B. Alsina, librarian of the Immigration Department, will take the place of the late Mr. Sundblad till his successor be appointed. We did not know before that the tender care taken of immigrants by the National Government extended to providing them with a library. We should say it would be necessary first to teach nine-tenths of them how to read.

Some one asked an old lady about a sermon—"Could you remember it?" "Remember it? La, no. The preacher couldn't remember it himself. He had to have it written down."

The death is announced from Boston, U. S., of Mr. Howard, father of the United States Vice-Consul in Montevideo.

Here's a chance for horsebreeders:—All the blood horses raised in the stables of the Estancia del Colorado, the property of the heirs of the late General Santos, are to be sold by auction on the 30th. Amongst other animals there are 42 colts and fillies progeny of Cellar, Pretendiente and Black Lyon.

The foreign residents of Montevideo have very correct ideas of what a good dinner should be. They are going to give one to the ex and the new President of the Republic, and $100 a head is to be the cost. A man would require to fast for a week to do full justice to such a feed.

Galveston was not so far out after all in saying that the Pope has abolished Lent. H. H. has virtually done so, for this year at least. Archbishop Aneiros, in obedience to orders from the Vatican, has issued a short pastoral abolishing all obligation to either f tions, sinking steadily, left off weak at 249 for cash and 251 for end of month, shewing a drop of over five points. Stocks were weaker, as a rule, but it was said that large orders to buy National Bank Shares had been received from Hamburg, which kept the quotation for this stock more or less firm at 136. Constructors gave way to 34 and Obligations to 4, and sellers even at these rates. Catalinas declined to 34.50, closing at 35, and 1000 Bolsa Bank Shares at 45 closed the hour's business.

The following is a summary of operations effected this afternoon during the first ring: —

It is conceded on all sides that the blackness of the situation is in great part due to the efforts of the Provincial Mortgage Bank to swamp the market with Cedulas. This has been so apparent that the market has grown tired and hoarse protesting against it; but to no avail: series has followed series treading so close one upon ano her that at for the sake of financial decency, and perhaps in order not to use up all the letters of the alphabet, the board ingeniously hit upon the expedient of increasing the series by the number of millions requisite. Nor is the enormous supply of Cedulas the blackest feature of the business. Enormous grants to one sole party are of but too frequent occurrence, and, if rumour be true, on the very slenderest security. It is waste of words to recapitulate even the notable instances in which a property was valued at 3,000,000 dollars although it was known to be worth scarcely 300,000 dollars; but as a matter of news we quote from an evening colleague who announces that yesterday the board made three grants which summed up to the enormous total of 2,966,600 dollars. That such enormous sums should be granted at the present moment with lands altogether to a fall is too monstrous to be credible.

Amongst the variety of plans, schemes devices and combinations flying about seeking a panacea for the crisi, one that is steadily gaining ground on 'Change is a project to substitute curso forzoso for curso legal, that is to declare all contracts except in Argentine shinplasters illegal. By this it is argued, all Bolsa speculation in gold is cut off at the root; holders of gold finding that it is idle capital that cannot be utilized will be compelled to get out of gold and into paper, which would consequently bring gold out from the safes and deposits and thus appreciate the paper. The originator of the idea, a leading broker, foreshadows the flight of gold that would follow on the adoption of such a measure but thinks with our Minister Varela that this gold is prejudicial and not beneficial to the country. Most people would not agree with this view of the matter, and we merely give the above as a sample of what is said and talked about on 'Change, in which almost every individual represents a scheme or opinion.

To-morrow the Provincial Government auction of its port lands comes off; the opinion on the Bolsa is that the lands won't sell, as even good house property in this city at low valuations could not be sold yesterday in town. Several very important auctions are announced for to-morrow; and we note now that good mezita stock on the estancias is hard of sale, notwithstanding free train, "carne con cuero", etc. In former days estancieros had not to advertise their stock, as the buyers came to their estancias and bought everything they could get; but times have changed even in the camp.

The Financial News of London has published a long and interesting article on Argentine R. Rs. which we hold for our next.

A telegram was received to-day from Hamburg ordering the purchase of National Bank shares. This corresponds with the news we had yesterday of the placing of 50,000 shares in the London market.

Dr. Marengo, who arrived out from Genoa in the Sirio, was welcomed on 'Change to-day. Also Mr. A. Devoto, President of Banco de Italia, who has recovered from a severe attack of influenza. Also Mr. Gregorio Torres who has just arrived back from Cordova, and Mr. Brett, estanciero, Venado Tuerto, who reports everything doing well out there, and the rails of the Venado Tuerto R.R. now being laid in the Armstrong camps.

Business at the second hour was rather meagre, only a trifle over half a million gold changing hands, though prices spurted up and closed very stiff. For Monday the rate opened at 249.50 and closed at 253.50, while for the end of the month there were no sellers under 257. Stocks were even weaker than in the morning, only the sovereign stock holding its own. The business all round was unimportant.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring: —

The ex gold king took a "multa" today with obligation to receive twenty thousand dollars gold for the end of the month at 245. Many such operations were spoken of. The business was done at the close of the second hour.

At the meeting of Mr. Schweitzer's creditors held yesterday nothing definite was resolved upo, although the probabilities are that the first offer made to give pagares and the properties as security will be accepted. Mr. Schweitzer is evidently disposed to do all in his power to make an equitable arrangement; besides the pagares and properties the creditors will also enjoy any sum or profits arising from his position as founder and managing director of the Constructor Bank. The following are the properties with their valuations, which are admitted to be very low.

1,200000 sq yds. on the B. Blanca port at 40 cents	$480,000
30,000 sq yds. in Montevideo at 3 gold dollars	230,000

The steamship Amerique arrived in Montevideo to-day from Genoa with three hundred passengers and 1300 tons of cargo.

The Lamport and Holt packet Belloua arrived in Montevideo yesterday from Liverpool with 3698 tons of cargo. She comes up on Monday.

It was reported to-day that the Canalizadora del Riachuelo has effected two more important purchases of real estate. It has bought from the General Pobladora 647,535 square yards in Barracas al Sud for 1,457,291 dollars and 66,556 square metres on the Riachuelo belonging to Dr Hugo A Bunge for 266,226 dollars. The title deeds have been signed in La Plata.

The Law adviser of the Provincial Government in La Plata has suggested the advisability of liquidating the Fomento Territorial. We have given lately particulars of the state of the concern, and the market at large will hail the action of the Government with approbation, as such concerns are a blot that had best be removed at the earliest opportunity. The Sociedad Territorial will no doubt be treated to a measure of the same description.

Signs of the times are so numerous now that it seems of little use referring to them in detail. As we have already remarked, the number of properties thrown on the market daily for sale is extraordinary, and no buyers. Houses and building sites, estancias and chacras, all are going a-begging; not even the sellers themselves have the faintest expectation of seeing them realized, so that bringing them to the hammer is rather done with a view to pacify creditors than with any hope of doing business. In this light it is not hard to understand the fact of Mr. Ponce's efforts on Thursday to dispose of three valuable city properties. They are well situated, and were well advertised, yet, in spite of being put up at low upset prices, not a single bid could be elicited. The following is a list of the properties: —

Calle Lorea, between Victoria and Alsina, 15.36x15x15 metres, upset price 74.94 m/n.

Calle Moreno, between Entre Rios and Pozos, 581 square yards, upset price 50.72 m/n.

Calle Pozos, between Alsina and Moreno, 13-roomed house, 314 square yards, upset price 58.04 m/n.

In our advertisement columns will be found Bullrich's announcement of a great sale of property on Sunday next. Splendid plans, showing the lands standing out in Emerald green, were handed round to day, from which we see that the lands to be offered are situated in the Prado General Belgrano, on the fashionable Santa Fe Road, between Avenida de los Ombues and Avenida Central. The lands are most admirably situated for building quintas and palaces, with bowers of roses and jasmines, and it is to be hoped that the hard times will not interfere with the sale of these splendid lands.

overnment approved to-day the statutes of the following companies: Fomento Balvanera, capital $2,000,000; Sociedad Nacional de Trasportes, capital $500,000; "Ada" [mining - company], capital $3,000000, and Franco-Argentine Club.

Two important sales of property are reported. Messrs. Artiguel and Laborde have sold to Mr. E. Godoy 7025 hectares in the partido of Tordillo for 600,000 m/n., and Mr. Leredal has sold to Mr. Falcon 259x216 metres on the Arroyo Maciel in Barracas for 115,000 m/n.

Passengers booked per R.M.S. Trent, which left Southampton on Feb. 13th:—

We take the following from a late exchange:—

"Mr. Gomez, Buenos Aires, has bought the Hackney stallion Lord Napier, bred by Mr. Beart, and several Hackney mares, amongst which is Shepherdess, winner of many first prizes. These animals were sent by s.s. Bishopgate, and they will form the nucleus of a choice stud of Hackneys which Mr. Gomez intends to establish in South America."
